Quality comes first

Quality. Value. Service. These are the guiding principles at Swanson Health Products. Since 1969, we've been bringing wellness to the world with the highest quality supplements; the lowest possible prices; and expert, personalized service. But it all starts with quality. Because without quality products, price and personality don't matter quite as much, do they? We've built our company by offering only top-quality products. Not by cutting corners. Not by using inferior ingredients. Not by buying in bulk. We control our products from concept to capsule to bring you natural health products you can rely on.

The finest ingredients

To produce our high-quality supplements we select the purest premium-grade ingredients on the market. We work with the most reputable developers and manufacturers around the world—suppliers with the proven ability to meet our rigid standards for quality production, purity, potency and beyond. Often, big developers turn to us to introduce their most advanced new ingredients to the marketplace. Our state-of-the-art facilities enable us to handle your supplements with the utmost care and produce finished goods in quantities tailored to our sales volume, thereby ensuring minimal storage time, optimal freshness and maximum shelf-life in your home.

Purity and potency guaranteed

Every ingredient used in a Swanson® brand supplement requires documentation from the supplier, including an official Certificate of Analysis, ensuring that the material meets our required specifications. We guarantee that what is stated on the label is exactly what you'll find inside the formula—nothing more, nothing less.
